

TEEN WRITING CLUB

Join the teen writing club to exercise your writing skills and to get your work published digitally! New members always welcome.

The Teen Writing Club meets on the last Thursday of each month to exchange ideas and share written work.

Writing prompts will be given to club members during the monthly meeting. If we cannot meet in person, members can request to have prompts prepared for pickup, sent via email or mailed directly to their home.

At the end of the year the Teen Writing Club will compile our best short stories from all group members in an eBook that will be available on our digital libraries Libby and OverDrive. Club members can also choose to have their own stories published individually.

Permission to publish forms must be signed and completed by a parent or guardian prior to digital publishing.
